Bandhu Social Welfare Society organized two different orientation sessions on Student Fellowship Program at Department of Law, North South University and Department of Sociology, University of Dhaka. A total of 208 participants representing different community attended the orientation sessions.

Prof. Dr. Abdur Rob Khan, Dean, School of Humanities & Social Sciences; Dr. Abu Noman Mohammad Atahar Ali Chairperson, Department of Law and Dr. Katherine Li, Director, Office of External Affairs were there as guests at North South University. In Dhaka University, Dr. A. S. M. Amanullah, Professor, Department of Sociology; Dr. Gobinda Chandra, Professor, Department of Political Sciences and Shabnam Azim, Associate Professor, Department of Mass Communication & Journalism attended the session.

The main objective of these events was to make a bridge between the Gender Diverse Population and the university students and sensitize them concerning the gender diversity issues of Bangladesh.
Prof. Dr. Abdur Rob Khan and Prof. Dr. A. S. M. Amanullah inaugurate the program at NSU and Dhaka University with their welcome speech. They thanked Bandhu Social Welfare Society for such activities and suggested to involve more departments and other public universities in future.

The major recommendations and follow up actions of the orientations were:

- Conduct this student fellowship program regularly and deliberately
- Requested to arrange fellowships program to other faculty members
- An MoU can be signed between NSU and Bandhu for further engagement
- Requested to arrange fellowships program covering regional areas
- Organize this kind of student related programs beginning of the year
- Number of fellowship can be increased for future
